War Department Learns 500 Aboard Distressed Transport Are Out of Danger

SEVERAL VESSELS AIDING

By the Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 19.—Radio dispatches received today by the War Department said the army transport Powhatan, which is in distress 700 miles east of New York, with 500 persons aboard, probably would have no difficulty in reaching Halifax with the aid of several vessels which have responded to her distress calls. The Powhatan sprang a leak and wireless for aid Sunday afternoon.

New York, Jan. 19.—The army transport Powhatan, in distress about 700 miles east of New York, reported by wireless to the army transport office here today that, although she was leaking and her boiler room flooded, she was in no immediate danger.

The United States shipping board's Western Comet, which is among the vessels nearby, will attempt to tow the Powhatan to Halifax, the nearest port, after the passengers have been transferred to the Cedric. The British steamship Bardic, bound from London to New York, is another vessel heading for the distressed transport.

The Powhatan was formerly the Hamburg-American liner Hamburg and was transferred to the yacht of William H. Woodruff.

Stockholm, Jan. 19.—(By A. P.)—Part-nine members of the crew of the American steamer Macon, which struck a rock off Nidlingen Light and foundered, were lost, the only survivor being the second mate of the ship.

New York, Jan. 19.—(By A. P.)—The American steamship Erie Harney, a vessel in the coastwise service, was reported ashore today one and one-half miles east of Blue Point Coast guard station on the Long Island coast, and about fifteen miles from Fire Island. The ship is lying about 100 yards from the shore.

FRENCH CABINET IS REORGANIZED

M. Millerand, New Premier, Names Men to Succeed Clemenceau Officers, Resigned

TARDEAU REFUSES PLACE

By the Associated Press
Paris, Jan. 19.—Alexandre Millerand, governor of Alsace, who was asked last night to form a cabinet when the cabinet of Premier Clemenceau resigned, has completed his task.

Millerand's cabinet will hold its first meeting at the new premier's home late this afternoon. It will then be introduced to President Poincaré, who will sign the decree of nomination, which will be promulgated in tomorrow's Journal Officiel.

M. Millerand said at midday that he had had a talk with former Premier René Viviani.

"I regret more than anything else the present moment to enter the government," said M. Millerand, "but he assured me of his fullest support."

M. L'Hoste, minister of agriculture, has refused to remain in the new Millerand cabinet. In reply to M. Millerand's request that he remain in office, Captain L'Hoste has said that during the last few days members of Parliament have shown they wish to appoint a new cabinet and that therefore he is unable to accept the premier's invitation.

The cabinet is composed as follows: Premier and foreign minister, Alexandre Millerand; minister of justice, M. L'Hoste; minister of the interior, Andre Honnorat; minister of war, Andre Lefevre; minister of marine, M. Landry; minister of commerce, M. Janac; minister of agriculture, Henri Riquarts; minister of finance, Frederic Francois Marsal; minister of the colonies, Albert Sarraut; minister of public works, Yves Le Troquer; minister of labor, Paul Jourdain; minister of hygiene and social welfare, M. Breton; minister of interior, Jules Steeg; minister of public instruction, Andre Honnorat.

M. Jourdain was minister of labor in the Clemenceau cabinet and M. Le Troquer was undersecretary of state for the liquidation of stocks. These are the only members of the Clemenceau ministry retained. M. Francois Marsal is the manager of the Banque Industrielle de Paris. He is neither a Deputy nor a senator. M. Steeg was minister of the interior in the Painleve cabinet.

M. Millerand has created a new ministry to deal with hygiene and social questions. The choice of M. Millerand as premier has created an excellent impression in parliamentary circles. It is probable that the new cabinet will be a special student of social and economic problems. It is those problems which now dominate all else.

Changes in French diplomatic assignments are expected to result from the election of M. Deschanel as president. C. F. Alapetite, present minister to Spain, may become governor of Alsace-Lorraine, according to the Echo de Paris. M. Deschanel's head of the French special mission to Vienna, is being considered for the Madrid post. On the other hand the Excelsior says it is probable that Charles A. Jonart may succeed Alexandre Millerand, the new premier, as governor of Alsace-Lorraine.

The outgoing ministry has been in office since November 16, 1917. The resignation is in accordance with long-standing plans of M. Clemenceau to retire after leaving Premier Clemenceau and all the ministers and subsecretaries and receiving their resignations Sunday morning. President Poincaré kept M. Clemenceau three quarters of an hour. He expressed the gratitude of France for the premier's services and his personal appreciation of their excellent relations.

Raoul Peret, vice president of the Chamber of Deputies, will become president of the Chamber as a result of Deschanel's election to the presidency. Newspapers generally greet the election of M. Deschanel as a very fortunate event and express the belief that it evidences a desire for national unity independent of partisan politics.

WILSON GREET'S PAN-AMERICANS

Welcome to Financial Conference Points Duty of World Service

21 REPUBLICS REPRESENTED

By the Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 19.—Marked by the presence of the leading financiers and business men of the twenty-one republics of the Western Hemisphere, the second Pan-American Financial Conference opened here today for consideration of international problems arising from the return of peace.

President Wilson from his sick room sent a message of greeting, in which he said that the Americans, guided by a purpose to serve one another and the world to the utmost, would regard as a privilege the fulfillment of these obligations imposed by the great advantage enjoyed by Pan-American nations. The message follows:

Gentlemen of the Americas: I regret more than anything else the present moment to enter the government, but he assured me of his fullest support. I rejoice with you that in these troubled times the representatives of the republics of the American continent should seek no selfish purpose, but should be guided by a desire to serve one another and the world to the utmost of their capacity. The great privileges that have been showered upon us both by reason of our geographical position and because of the high political and social ideals that have determined the national development of every country of the American continent carry with them obligations the fulfillment of which must be regarded as a real privilege by every true American. It is no small achievement that the American people today are able to stand in the world. "Here is an important section of the globe which has today eliminated the idea of conquest from its national thought and from its international policy."

The spirit of mutual helpfulness which animates the conference supplements an already existing and important achievement of international policy. I rejoice with you that we are privileged to assemble with the sole purpose of serving one another and the world to the utmost of our capacity. (Signed) WOODROW WILSON.

Churchill Opposes Premier
If Mr. Churchill's views were accepted, the Allies would invade Russia for the purpose of destroying bolshevism in its home, while Mr. Lloyd George's view is that that would amount to war against the subject of bolshevism, undertaken to influence public opinion in the direction of their chief's convictions.

Secretary Lansing, president general of the conference, after reading President Wilson's message, welcomed the delegates, declaring the conference was destined to be fruitful of important results in the interchange of information between the officials and managers of the two continents. He declared it was more and more necessary that those in high places should know one another, since the policies of one nation vitally affect those of another.

"Mankind is showing signs of nervousness," he said, "which may presage the breakdown of government unless all sink their differences for the common cause."

Lansing Foresees Benefits
Secretary Lansing then welcomed the delegates on behalf of the American Government. "It is fitting," he said, "when an exhausted world is groping amidst the ruins of past prosperity to find foundations on which to rebuild its shattered fortunes, that our republic should again assemble in conference to consider the financial and economic problems of the new era and to devise ways of adjusting our lives and intercourse to the new conditions in harmony with the impelling spirit of Pan-Americanism."

"In addition to the recognition of our duty to one another we have a greater mission, a world mission, to fulfill. If we demonstrate in our international intercourse that the America policy is guided by a spirit of helpfulness rather than by national selfishness, we shall make a contribution to world peace and to civilization which will bear its present reward and be remembered with gratitude by posterity."

Welcoming the visitors to the building of the Pan-American Union, where the general sessions are being held in the great hall of the Americas symbolizing the peaceful friendship between the republics, John Barrett, director general, spoke of the union's moral influence in preserving peace and building up commerce.

Latin America's Hopes
In response to the President's message of welcome, the Latin-American delegates expressed confidence that the conference would be productive of tangible results.

Dr. Domingo E. Salaberry, minister of finance of Argentina, said his country gave adhesion to the widest ideals for the common welfare of a Pan-America. The delegates applauded vigorously his expression of hope for the recovery of President Wilson.

CRIED 'RED PERIL' TO AID CHURCHILL

British War Officials Tried to Force Lloyd George's Hand on Russia

PREMIER HAS OTHER PLANS

By the Associated Press
Paris, Jan. 19.—The communication concerning the Bolshevik menace recently issued by the war office at London was in consequence of a departmental policy divergent from that of Premier Lloyd George, the Associated Press is informed upon first authority.

Winston Spencer Churchill, the British secretary for war, has himself told Mr. Lloyd George that he did not know about the issuance of the communication, but that he believed the prime minister underestimated the danger from the spread of armed bolshevism.

It has been explained to the prime minister that the war office associates of Mr. Churchill, knowing how strongly he felt on the subject of bolshevism, undertook to influence public opinion in the direction of their chief's convictions.

LEAKY BOOZE SHIP, REELING TO PORT, MAY LOSE CARGO

Accident Forces Abandonment of Trip to Havana With Liquor Worth $2,000,000—Heading for Delaware Breakwater

The British freighter Yarmouth, with $2,000,000 worth of liquor aboard, is reeling toward the Delaware Breakwater, the three-mile limit line and possible confiscation this morning.

The ship, heavy with whiskeys, gin and champagne, was heading blithely for Havana from New York when she sprang a leak about thirty-five miles east of Cape May.

Major Roy L. Daily, assistant interior revenue agent heavily active in charge of enforcing prohibition, said today that the matter of disposing of the Yarmouth and its valuable cargo will be carried to the highest authority court.

Case Will Establish Precedent
"The case, of course," he said, "will establish a precedent, and we intend to fight the matter to the highest possible marine court. If the court holds that the Yarmouth is entitled to repairs and the permission to proceed on its voyage, well and good.

"If it rules that we are entitled to confiscate the liquor, it is also satisfactory. We will fight the case to establish a working basis on which to decide any like cases which may come up."

Visions of a $2,000,000 cocktail gurgling down to Davy Jones's locker caused the ship's officers to flash out distress signals.

The radio messages reported the ship declared that all Latin America joined the United States in the resolution to maintain peace and justice.

"Without the United States for assistance," declared Dr. Carlos Sampaio, of Brazil, "Meanwhile let us realize by friendship and co-operation the league of the Americas."

U. S. the World's Banker
Doctor Sampaio said Brazil was looking to the United States for assistance in developing that country not so much by financial aid as by example. He expressed great admiration for America's banking system and great industries.

"The United States is the financial center of the world," he said, "and is the only nation Latin America can look to now for credits."

Dr. Luis Iguere, of Chile, said: "The beneficial intercourse between the American republics, particularly with the United States, which was created by the war, must be maintained and protected."

The opening session was followed by an informal luncheon, given by the Federal Reserve Board and the United States section of the international high commission. This afternoon the group committees from each country met to organize and meet the financiers and business men of this country appointed to co-operate with them.

William Jennings Bryan was one of the early arrivals at the conference, receiving a cordial welcome from diplomats whom he met in the course of negotiating arbitration treaties with their countries when he was secretary of state. He said he would not make a speech.

Flout Allied Warning Against Giving Cause for Attack by Russian Armies

UKRAINIAN PEACE IS NEAR

By the Associated Press
Paris, Jan. 19.—Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, who form the interallied military council so far as consideration of middle and near eastern questions is concerned, have been meeting in Paris. Their deliberations, the Associated Press is informed, have had more to do with restraining Polish military operation against Russia than with supporting those operations.

The prime ministers took up the Polish question seriously Thursday and Friday. Their information was that Polish armies have in recent weeks occupied considerable territory beyond the Polish boundaries and belonging properly to Russia. The prime ministers warned the Polish Government that they could not support a policy of expansion and requested M. Padek, the Polish foreign minister, now in Paris, to advise Poland to evacuate Russian occupied territories, and thus avoid giving cause for attack by the soviet government. This M. Padek refused to do.

Warsaw, Jan. 19.—(By A. P.)—Terms for concluding peace with the Bolsheviks have been fixed by the Ukrainian Government, according to Lemberg newspapers. They include recognition of the independence and present government of the Ukrainian republic, exchange of products between the two countries, complete neutrality of Ukraine and the withdrawal of all soviet forces from Ukrainian territory.

In exchange the Communist party will enjoy full exercise of its rights in Ukraine on condition that it will not attempt to monopolize power.

ARCHBISHOP HAYES ABSENT

Declines to Attend Meeting Called by Anti-Saloon League

New York, Jan. 19.—(By A. P.)—Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, of the Catholic archdiocese of New York, declined to attend today's meeting of the clergymen of the city under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League.

In a letter to W. H. Anderson, state superintendent of the league, he said that it was "extraordinary that the federal prohibition amendment should be singled out for particular attention above other statutes equally binding."

"The Catholic Church avails no such occasion to lay stress on the plain duty of obeying the law of the land," the letter continued. "Obedience to authority in the church and state is the very breath of Catholic discipline. The American people can be trusted to obey every constitutional law."

"I think that the function of the church is to teach the virtue of obedience and then leave the enforcement of the law to the properly constituted agencies of the government."
